Changing Trends in our Industry and it's impact on HVAC design.

The HVAC Industry continues to be influenced by demands for increased efficiency, reduced emissions, and lower life-cycle costs. A brief look at what trends are driving the HVAC industry and how they may effect local design, installation and maintenance in your area will be discussed by Ryan Geister, a representative of Trane, a division of American Standard Companies.

Ryan is a graduate of the University of Illinois with a Bachelor's of Science Degree in Engineering. He joined Trane's CDS Marketing group after completing Trane's 1996-I Graduate Engineering Program. He was responsible for supporting, developing and marketing Trane's software applications. Ryan then moved into the Graduate Training Program as a technical trainer.

In 1999 he was promoted to Manager of Systems Training. In his new role, he was responsible for developing, implementing and evaluating HVAC Systems tools utilized in the training of the new field sales engineers.

In 2000, Ryan graduated with his MBA from the University of Wisconsin, and was promoted to Regional Sales Manager with Chiller Products for the NE Region of the United States and Canada.

Ryan is also a member of ASHRAE and was voted the local LaCrosse Chapter's "Member of the Year" in 2000.

From the Presidents Pen

The November meeting is our Resource Promotion Night. Our Resource Promotion chairman is Al Veeck. Al did an excellent job last year as shown by the many awards he won at this year's Chapter Regional Conference. By the time you read this, approximately 80 of us will have had an excellent time at the fall golf tournament benefiting Resource Promotion. If you went, thank you! If you didn't, you missed an outstanding time. Our goal this year has risen and we would appreciate everyone's help through both individual and corporate donations. ASHRAE research is the backbone of the society and everyone's contributions are needed to keep the great publications and information available to us. Make a contribution on the individual level and persuade your employer to give a corporate donation. All donors will be recognized and there is no better way to show your support for our local chapter! See you on the 13th!

Sincerely,

Scott Almond
